A portion of the Irvington community is a designated Historic Preservation District within the jurisdiction of the Indianapolis Historic Preservation Commission (IHPC). To help facilitate the design review process, the Historic Irvington Community Council encourages applicants to participate with the community in a discussion of the proposed work. The discussion may take place before or after application has been made to the Indianapolis Historic Preservation Commission, but no recommendation will be made until after the application and all subsequent documentation has been filed with the Indianapolis Historic Preservation Commission.

You can contact the Historic Irvington Community Council by mail (P O Box 19721, Indianapolis, Indiana 46219), voice mail (317/713-1100), or email (info@irvingtoncouncil.com).

PROCESS

COMMITTEE MEETING

A discussion and review of the proposed work will occur at an informal meeting of the Zoning & Land Use Committee of the Historic Irvington Community Council. You will be contacted by the Committee to confirm presentation materials and schedule a time to present. Your presentation and discussion is expected to last between 15 and 45 minutes. Applicants need to bring three (3) copies of all materials submitted to and required by the Indianapolis Historic Preservation Commission. Meetings are held at the Irvington Branch Library, 5625 East Washington Street (Washington Street & Audubon Road) in the evening of the second or third Wednesday of each month (see schedule below) at a time scheduled with the applicant.

BOARD MEETING

Recommendation(s) will be made to the Board of Directors of the Historic Irvington Community Council at their public meeting. Those meetings are held in the Fellowship Hall (end of hallway in basement) of the Irvington Presbyterian Church, 55 South Johnson Avenue (behind the Irvington Branch Library) starting at 7:00pm on the third Tuesday of each month, except December. Based on a review of the petition, information from the Committee meeting, and any subsequent information, the Zoning & Land Use Committee will make a recommendation(s) to the Board. After discussion, the Board will take action on the petition. The outcome of that action and discussion will be the basis of the recommendation made to the Indianapolis Historic Preservation Commission.
